SPENCER FINCH

"Up"

For his next show at Postmasters Gallery, Spencer Finch presents new work that deals with everybody's favorite direction "Up". Employing a wide variety of materials and techniques "ranging from rhinestones to Tang to falling apples" the work probes some of the great mysteries of the universe: color, light, gravity, time, space, and the odor inside an airborne Airbus 340. Among the works in the exhibition are extremely specific but unconventional representations of the sky over Roswell, New Mexico and of water stains on the ceiling above the artist's bed.

This exhibition marks a continuation of Finch's exploration of the gaps between objectivity and subjectivity as well as his fascination with science and its limits. In work that is alternately playful, poetic, and absurd, Finch examines what it means to see and to construct meaning in contemporary life.

Postmasters Gallery, located in Chelsea at 459 West 19th Street (corner of 10th Avenue), is open Tuesday through Saturday to 6 pm.
